

16
36. The system of claim <sup>13</sup>33, wherein the means for determining the currency includes means for using customer information to select the currency; and further comprising means for determining an exchange rate based upon the determined currency and a predetermined exchange medium.

17
37. The system of claim <sup>13</sup>33, further comprising means for storing and analyzing data based upon each customer accessing the system to develop a purchasing profile for each customer.

---

Conclusion

If any extension of time is required, Applicants request that the extension, and any additional fees for timely consideration of this application, be charged to Deposit Account No. 19-4972.

New claim 21 has been discussed with Mr. Millin, and is believed to be allowable. While applicants believe that additional subject matter disclosed herein is allowable, such subject matter will be presented in a continuation or continuation-in-part application. The term "accepting such order" in claim 21 is not of course limited to providing to the user a formal notice of acceptance of an order, but refers to processing that is consistent with handling an order that is to be fulfilled in accordance with the methods and systems disclosed in the application. Claims 22-32 are dependent on claim 21 and correspond generally to existing claims dependent on claim 1. Claim 33 is a system claim corresponding especially to claim 18. (Pre-existing Claim 13 is a system claim of different scope.) Claims 34-37 depend on claim 30.